TRAVEL TIPS

MOVING AROUND

MOTORBIKES / SCOOTERS

A popular way to get around in cities like Ho Chi Minh City and Hanoi. Rent for convenience, but wear a helmet and follow traffic rules. If unsure about riding, hire a local driver.

TAXIS

Widely available in cities. In Ho Chi Minh City, use companies like Mai Linh or Vinasun. Ensure the meter is on or agree on a price before starting.

RIDE-SHARING APPS

Grab and Be are widely used in Vietnam. They offer convenient options for both taxis and motorbikes, and they can be a safer choice for getting around.

BUSES

Cities have local buses, and long-distance buses connect cities. They're affordable but can be crowded and less comfortable for long trips.

TRAINS

The Reunification Express and other trains connect major cities, offering scenic routes. For comfort, choose a sleeper cabin.

FLIGHTS

For long distances, flying is the fastest option. Major airlines like Vietnam Airlines, VietJet Air, and Bamboo Airways operate domestic flights. Book in advance to get better rates.

Metro systems in Hanoi and Ho Chi Minh City are under construction to reduce traffic and modernize transport. In Vietnam, all vehicles drive on the right-hand side.

HOW TO CROSS THE ROAD IN VIETNAM

Especially in cities like Hanoi or Ho Chi Minh City, can feel like an extreme sport! Here's a funny guide to help you navigate the sea of motorbikes:

1 ASK FOR HELP

Vietnamese people are friendly and happy to assist. You can follow locals or ask a guide to help you cross the road.

2 ASSESS THE TRAFFIC

Take a moment to observe the traffic flow and check for cars or buses. Once it's somewhat clear, start crossing.

3 COMMIT TO CROSSING

Once you step out, keep going. Don't stop or turn back, as this can be more dangerous than continuing forward.

4 WALK STEADILY

Move at a consistent, brisk pace. Traffic will flow around you as long as you maintain your speed and direction.

5 WATCH FOR BUSES AND CARS

These vehicles are larger and faster than scooters and may not stop, so avoid crossing in front of them.

6 RAISE YOUR ARM

Holding your arm up makes you more visible to drivers, signaling your intent to cross.

7 IGNORE THE HONKING

In Vietnam, honking doesn't always mean danger; it's often just communication, so don't let it throw you off.

8 STAY CALM

Crossing the road in Vietnam can feel intense, but stay calm, breathe, and soon you'll master it like a local.

9 STAY ALERT

Even on the sidewalk, be cautious. Drivers may use the curb to bypass traffic. Green lights don't always mean traffic will stop, so stay aware.
